McCarty Speaks at Swedish-American Biotechnology Workshop

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (NOVEMBER 11, 2008) – Linda McCarty, an attorney at the law firm of Wall Esleeck Babcock LLP in Winston-Salem, presented at the Swedish-American workshop titled “Global Innovations in Biomaterials, Cell Delivery and Tissue Regeneration from Discovery to Market,” held at the Wake Forest Institute for Regenerative Medicine in Winston-Salem. Joining McCarty in making the presentation was Magnus Natt och Dag, Honorary Swedish Consul in North Carolina.

McCarty made the presentation, which focused on the legal implications of Swedish companies entering the U.S. market, at the request of Dr. Paul Gatenholm, who works with Chalmers University in Sweden, Wake Forest Institute for Regenerative Medicine and Virginia Tech.

Representatives of a number of Swedish companies – including Covamed, Cellartis, Artimplant Sweden and Arterion Sweden – attended the presentation. Also in attendance were representatives from Västra Götalands Regionen (West Sweden) and Chalmers University.

Earlier this year, Wall Esleeck Babcock hosted a visit to Winston-Salem by Sweden’s Ambassador to the United States, Jonas Hafström.

Based in Winston-Salem, Wall Esleeck Babcock LLP is a boutique law firm that combines extensive legal experience with personalized attention to clients.
